Symbolic of Westminster and the traditions of campus life is Old Main Tower. Its chimes, its glistening sandstone in the sun, its majestic height under night lights—the Tower is Westminster.

We Dedicate . . .

To Westminster's men and women who gave their service and their lives during World War II. Some have come back . . . some have not. To these who so unselfishly shelved their college careers and their work we dedicate the 1947 Argo.

In yesterday's war it was the C. O.; in today's peace it's Prexy—the veteran has returned. Yesterday he fought for his medals of honor; today he's studying for his college diploma. The professor no longer gets the snappy salute; it's "present" in the 8 o'clock roll call instead. The veteran has returned as both professor and student.

Board of Trustees

The executive committee of Westminster's administration, the Board of Trustees, is composed of fifty-two representatives from three synods of the United Presbyterian Church: the first Synod of the West, the Synod of Pittsburgh, and the Synod of New York. The pictures below were taken at a fall meeting of the Board held at Westminster.

OFFICERS OF THE BOARD

Rev. McElwee Ross, D. D.	President
Rev. R. E. McClure, D. D.,	Vice President
Robert N. Grier, Esq.	Secretary
Mr. Frank M. Brettholle	Treasurer

1. First row: Norman Igo, Miss Mary E. Turner, Mr. Mackintosh.
Middle row: Harry Rose, W. B. McCrory.
2. First Row: Dr. Cleland, Mrs. R. C. McKelvey, Dr. McElwee Ross.
3. First row: Ferdimore Vogan, Frank Brittain, Mrs. S. N. Warden, H. Russell Weller, William Duff.

President

DR. ROBERT FERGUSON GALBREATH, A. B., B. D., D. D., LL. D.

That familiar hat is on the rack in the first floor office and "Prexy" is still with us for a short time. He retires this June after 14 years as president of Westminster College.

During his period in office, Dr. Galbreath has done much to increase district esteem of Westminster. On campus he has popularized Sabbath evening chapel by his down-to-earth messages, extended our friendly "Hello" policy, created good will between students, faculty, and visiting ASTP and Navy V-5 units, kept up the morale of hundreds of servicemen with whom he personally corresponded during the war.

For the service and friendship which he has made ours at Westminster, we thank him, and extend to him and Mrs. Galbreath best wishes for a pleasant future on their new farm near New Wilmington.

Dean of College

DR. JOHN REED SPICER, B. A., M. A., Ed. D.

Coming to Westminster last fall as our first dean of the college and also as dean of men, Dr. John Reed Spicer has done an excellent job of making a post-war school out of what has been for a few years almost a girls' school. Graduating from Alfred University in Alfred, New York, with a B. A. degree in 1930, Dr. Spicer has also served there as dean before joining our faculty. His M. A. and Ed.D were both received from Columbia University.

Acting as coordinator for returning veterans on campus, Dean Spicer has smoothed out such problems as overcrowded classes, housing facilities, service credits, enrollment, G. I. Bill headaches, and a dozen similar troubles. With assistance next year from Dr. W. J. Harper McKnight who will be dean of men and college pastor, Dean Spicer will be able to come from beneath his load of duties and become better acquainted with students who know him as the tall, distinguished looking man with a mind for action.

Dean of Women

MISS MARY JANE STEVENSON, A. B., M. A.

Introducing many improvements in girls rules during her two years as Dean of Women, Miss Stevenson is another of the personages whose office makes first floor Old Main a busy center.

Serving as advisor to Student Council, student governing body, Senate, women's governing body, and Pan-hellenic council, inter-sorority governing body, Miss Stevenson also lectures in freshman orientation classes.

Answering the why's and wherefore's of the feminine population on campus, coping with increased enrollment difficulties with Dean Spicer and dormitory room placements are only a few of the duties of our busy Dean of Women.

A Westminster graduate herself, Miss Stevenson is esteemed as a capable, endearing person by all who know her.

Bible and Philosophy

Mr. Christy, Dr. Neale, Dr. Orr

Freshman Bible syllabuses and Junior theses are parts of the program of the department of Bible and Philosophy, aimed at giving students an understanding of and an interest in the Bible and the reasons behind the Christian religion. Chairman of the department is Dr. John Orr, professor of Bible and Philosophy, A. B., A. M., D. D., Ph. D.

Wayne Christy, assistant professor of Bible, A. B., Th. B., A. M., and J. Ralph Neale, lecturer in Bible, A. B., B. D., D. D., complete the department staff.

In addition to the required Bible courses, the curriculum has been expanded until the department now ranks among the most complete Bible departments in Eastern United States.

English and Journalism

Pretzels, crackers, and magazines galore welcome students to the English department where Dr. Mary Purdy, A. B., Ph. D., is chief of a large staff. Never ceasing to charm new majors with her deep, soft voice, she is assisted by associate professor of English, Dr. Virginia T. Everett, A. B., A. M., Ph. D., whose American Literature classes are a specialty. On leave of absence this year was James V. Baker, also associate professor of English.

Returning from military service to his position as assistant professor of English is Dr. Lowell Leland, B. A., M. A., Ph. D., who specializes in acquainting students with the novel. English majors with writing ambitions turn to Miss Katherine Shattuck, A. B., A. M., whose first hand knowledge is used in Advanced Composition class. Instructors in English, Miss Martha Barnhill, A. B., A. M. and Mr. Wehner, A. B., A. M. are well known to freshman students.

Dr. William J. Thomas, assistant professor of Journalism, A. B., M. E., Ph. D., is also director of the busy News Bureau of the college and capably assisted by Mr. Paul Krakowski, A. B., whose photography class is a favorite of journalism majors.

Dr. Thomas, Dr. Leland, Miss Barnhill, Dr. Everett, Dr. Purdy, Miss Shattuck, Mr. Wehner, Mr. Krakowski.

Humanities

History

Cornell University and University of Pittsburgh graduate school products continue to dominate the history department's personnel for the fourth successive year. The combination was made possible by the addition of Assistant Professor A. James Coe, former War Memorial and Rodgers Scholar at Cornell, who left the undergraduate faculty of Alfred University and the graduate school faculty of New York University to become the department's acting chairman. Miss Alice K. Schuster, A. B., A. M., carries the load of teaching American and Latin American history, while Mr. Coe interprets European history and the background of current world problems. The Far East and Pacific will come into their orbit by September. Dr. Leon S. Marshall, professor of history, is on leave of absence from the department.

Miss Schuster, Mr. Coe

Languages

It's not long before the new language student becomes acquainted with Miss Mary Elizabeth Stewart's accounts of the Paris she knew, or the uniqueness of Professor Walter Biberich's German songs and magic antics. Soon he is able to follow the rapid firing of Spanish words by Mr. T. R. Wiley. The student interested in Latin and Greek works with Dr. Gilbert H. Taylor, chairman of the department of ancient languages.

Heading the department of modern languages is Miss Stewart, A. B., A. M., whose study at the Sorbonne in Paris increased her knowledge of the language dear to her majors. Making up "The Three Musketeers" of the department are Assistant Professor of German, Mr. Biberich, A. B., A. M., who is also an ordained Baptist minister; Assistant Professor in Spanish, Mr. Wiley, A. B., A. M., who began teaching at Westminster after studying in Spain, France and Mexico; and Dr. Taylor, A. M., Ph. D., who teaches both the language and history of Greece and Rome.

Mr. Wiley, Miss Stewart, Mr. Biberich, Dr. Taylor

Natural Sciences

Biology

Dr. Matthews, Mr. Hall

Frog dissection and formaldehyde fumes still comprise the greater part of a biology major's life at Westminster, with long afternoon labs keeping them indoors studying nature from a scientific angle. Occasional field trips break up the routine, especially those along the railroad tracks to that inevitable rendezvous, the cut. However, persistent would-be doctors, nurses, and lab technicians keep at it under the guidance of associate professor of biology Donald C. Matthews. Dr. Matthews, B. S., Ph. D., is acting chairman of the department in the absence of Dr. Bert E. Quick, on leave from the college for further study. Assisting in the department as assistant professor of biology is Benedict A. Hall, A. B., A. M., most familiar to students taking botany courses.

Chemistry

Afternoons devoted to liberating oxygen or analyzing those dread unknowns, hours filled using chemical balances in quant lab, and rigging up equipment in organic lab is time well spent in a chemistry major's schedule. Completing his term at Westminster this year is the familiar Dr. Edward A. Metcalf, professor of chemistry and chairman of the department, who is leaving his undergraduate students to teach graduate work in chemistry at Johns Hopkins University. Dr. Metcalf holds an A. B., M. A., and Ph. D. New in the department for this year is Dr. Charles D. Starr, who taught several chem classes as associate professor of chemistry with an A. B., and Ph. D.

Outstanding in all science majors minds this year were plans for the new Freeman Memorial Science Hall, which were furthered with trips to nearby colleges to examine latest equipment and buildings.

Mathematics

Shifted around this year with increasing confusion for its students was the math department, starting out in September with Assistant Professor Lola S. Christy, B.S., M.L., acting as head of the department and Dr. Gilbert Taylor assisting. At semesters Dr. Harold L. Black returned to Westminster as chairman of the department and of the division of natural sciences. Coming back also was Byron King, instructor, who taught math classes for the ASTP in 1943-44. Dr. Black, A.B., A.M., Ph.D., and Mr. King, A.B., took over all classes in math for the second semester. The load in this department was especially heavy this year with over a hundred ex-servicemen clamoring for courses in everything from beginning algebra to calculus and analytical geometry.

Physics and Astronomy

In the higher realm of light, electricity and the stars Westminster students find Dr. James A. Swindler, professor of physics and chairman of the department. During the first semester, Dr. Swindler, A.B., A.M., Ph.D., taught all classes and labs in his department, carrying an overloaded schedule. Second semester, returned vets clamored for so much work in the department that James A. Shear, B.S., M.S., himself a veteran, became assistant to Dr. Swindler, instructing elementary physics classes and labs. Familiar sights around campus, especially with the vets, are those little gray lab manuals and PHYSICS, by Stuart. The cellar laboratory in the science hall, hangout of squinteen physics and math majors, was filled with doubled-up labs and confusing technical equipment in addition to the students every afternoon and Saturdays.

Dr. Swindler, Mr. Shear

Social Sciences

Economics and Business Administration

Mr. Ellis, Mr. McKee, Dr. Creighton, Mr. Brettholle

"Cappie," who stands at the wheel of the economics and business administration department, is the symbol of all that is familiar to bus ad majors at Westminster. Captain William McKee, chairman of the department and of the social science division, is professor of economics and business administration with an A.B., and A.M.

Accounting students know best Professor Herbert C. Graebner, B.S., M.B.A., who is associate professor of economics and business administration. He also has charge of engaging guest speakers for the college lecture course.

Newest addition to the department is Dr. John Wallis Creighton, B.A., Ph.D., LL.D., who gives spice to his classes with his first hand knowledge on China and the Far East. Dr. Creighton, professor of economics and business administration, also confused students with his B.A. from Westminster College, in Missouri.

Assistant professor of economics, Mr. Frank Brettholle, B.B.A., M.B.A., is also familiar to students as college Business Manager.

Government and Law

Carrying a one-man job as sole member of the department of political science, government and law this year was Harry S. Manley, A.B., Westminster, 1942; L.L.B., University of Pittsburgh Law school, 1945. Mr. Manley, as instructor in government and law, had the duty of teaching the rudiments of law to many of his former classmates who returned from the service with aspirations to become lawyers.

Returning during the second semester from a military leave of absence, Thomas V. Mansell, A.B., LL.B., lecturer in government, taught social science classes to ease the weighty burden in this division. Mr. Mansell, who holds law offices in New Castle, spends the early part of the morning at Westminster before going to his duties as practicing lawyer.

Mr. Manley

Psychology and Education

The psychology and education department, comfortably situated on third floor Old Main, provides housing for its staff of three. Heading the department and acting as counsellor and advisor to future teachers, Carrol H. Leeds, B. S., M. S., also teaches classes in General Psychology and Educational Psychology.

Mr. Leeds is assisted by Miss Eva Goodenough, B. S., M. S., who teaches both Psychology and Education courses, being especially familiar to aspiring pedagogues of the junior class. The latest addition to the department, Miss Zelma Wittenberg, B. A., M. A., a former member of the Woman's Army Corps, instructs students in Mental Hygiene, Child Psychology, and Abnormal Psychology courses.

Latest additions to the duties of the department are courses preparatory for a masters degree in education.

Miss Wittenberg, Mr. Leeds, Miss Goodenough

Secretarial Science

Amid classrooms filled with sounds of those clicking typewriters and the mumbling of shorthand students trying to keep up with the 120-word rate of dictation, we find Mr. Robert F. Galbreath, Jr., B. B. A., A. M., heading the department and teaching classes of business English, office management, typing, bookkeeping, salesmanship, and accounting.

Miss Elsie L. Leffingwell, B. S., M. A., spends most of her time with shorthand students, helping them attain that "high speed" with the proper style of writing.

Miss Jane C. Little, B. A., M. Ed., new addition to the department this year, has taken over shorthand, typing and Business Arithmetic classes. In the afternoons she may also be found in the office practice lab.

Miss Marjorie Kellar, only with us for a short time, has guided many students in classes of Typing and Business English.

Miss Leffingwell, Mr. Galbreath, Miss Little, Miss Kellar.

Fine Arts

Music

Virtual home of music students and never-ending source of sounds for passers-by, the long, be-windowed, columned "conserv" across from the library houses the music department.

Headed by Professor Donald O. Cameron, B. M., M. Ed., Director of the Conservatory of Music and professor of violin and theory, the department includes voice Professor Alan B. Davis and Mr. Dallmeyer Russell, visiting professor of piano. Associate professors, Miss Dorothy C. Kirkbride, A. B., B. M., and Miss Ada Peabody, B. M., A. M., are active in piano and music education instruction. Miss Peabody also heads the women's glee club.

New to the department this year, Mr. James W. Evans, B. A., M. S. M., associate professor of organ and composition, is a familiar figure at the console of the chapel organ. Mr. Charles I. Sager, B. M., M. M., assistant professor of voice, is also the jovial, hardworking head of the a Cappella choir.

First row: Mr. Evans, Miss Peabody, Miss Kirkbride, Mr. Davis.

Speech and Drama

Hub of activity in the dramatic and speech fields is the little office at the other end of first floor Old Main with its adjoining costume room and Little Theatre. Narrator of all that goes on in this realm is "Teacher," Dr. Albert T. Cordray, who, in addition to his duties as chairman of the department and director of the Little Theatre, is director of the college summer school.

Assisting Dr. Cordray in the department for the past three years has been Mr. Donald L. Barbe, assistant professor in speech and radio and director of Westminster's Radio Workshop. Miss Helen V. Cushman, assistant professor of speech and dramatics, joined the department this year, serving as costume mistress of the Little Theatre besides directing one-act plays and teaching speech courses.

During the course of the year, three or four major productions are given, which this year included student performances of "Romeo and Juliet," "Kind Lady," "Blithe Spirit," and three one-act plays. Programs directed by Mr. Barbe were broadcast from the Radio Workshop weekly.

Dr. Cordray, Miss Cushman, Mr. Barbe

Fine Arts

Art

In the absence of Mr. Harold J. Brennan, professor of art and chairman of the department, Mr. Joseph Sheridan, B. A., M. A., has capably taken over as assistant professor of art.

The sky-lighted lab on third floor science hall is well known to art majors as their lab, but to everyone it is the paint-, easel-, statue-infested hangout of the art department and Mr. Sheridan. Known as "Joseph" to the world of oils and easels, he has studied under Hans Hofman, producing several canvases during this past year. Though not a surrealist, Mr. Sheridan gives the group their due as he maintains interest in all fields of art.

Not a lab fiend, Mr. Sheridan also lectures in the freshman art survey courses. He's a familiar figure with a cup of coffee, a book, and an intense expression of interest while reading at his favorite table in Isaly's.

Mr. Sheridan

Physical Education

Miss Sittig, Mr. Hetzler, Mrs. Sheridan

The gym is a scene of never-ending activity—close basketball games between such teams as the "Killers" and "Fame's Favored Few," formation swimming as the Mermaids practice, inter-frat volleyball and basketball games, rigorous calisthenics, and W. A. A. games besides the regular classes for freshmen and sophomores in the physical education department program. Grover C. Washabaugh, B. S., heading the department and titan basketball team, nine years, is known for his good humor and slow, easy, drawling voice. Women's athletics are directed by Donna Mae Pound Sheridan. Because of increased enrollment of women on campus this year, Mrs. Sheridan is assisted with gym and swimming classes by several physical education majors. Helen Sittig, R. N., B. A., instructs the hygiene classes for freshmen women. Men's health, swimming, and physical education classes are directed by Melvin Hetzler, B. A., who has been teaching here since 1942. Throughout the year Mr. Hetzler has also organized inter-frat, inter-class, and inter-club teams in basketball, volleyball and softball.

Public Relations

Mr. William A. Johns

The man behind the familiar baby buggy and the jovial grin, most any sunny afternoon on Quadrangle, is Mr. William A. Johns, M. S., Director of Public Relations and Industrial Placement.

Although fondness for his grandson may be vying with that for Westminster itself, Mr. Johns' job is a never-ending one of "selling" Westminster to potential students and selling her graduates on careers once they've met graduation requirements. Author of many a postcard received by prospective students, Mr. Johns' bright hello and amiable personality are easily a part of the Westminster we remember.

Business Manager and College Treasurer

The financial problems of a college in wartime became those of Mr. Frank M. Brettholle, B. B. A., M. B. A., who tackled the position of Business Manager early in 1944. Keeper of the busy office "behind the business office," Mr. Brettholle is well-known to student employees and organization treasurers who depend on his "O.K." or signature.

A graduate of Westminster with plenty of basketball and football behind him, Mr. Brettholle is an avid follower of the Titan basketball team and familiar figure on the faculty teams.

Returning to Westminster this spring, Mr. Ross Ellis will take over his former duties as Business Manager before his entrance into Naval service. Mr. Brettholle will continue as assistant professor of economics in that department.

Mr. Frank M. Brettholle

OLD MAIN

In the infantry it's reveille at 5:30 a. m.; in college it's social science at 8 o'clock. From uniforms and dungarees in the service to sweaters and plaid shirts in class; from the basic training manual to the college catalogue. The vet has become one of the gang—an eager beaver in class.

Classes

Donald Haight, Vice President; Raymond Bower, President

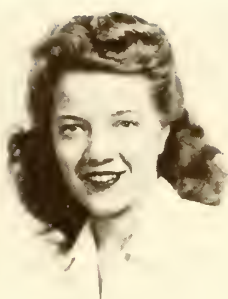

Westminster's Lost Generation, the class of '46, came into its own at last. A three day graduation celebration climaxed four years of meeting the boys, saying goodbye, and waiting—. We were here to see most of them go in '42 and '43, and we were here to see many of them return in '45 and '46. In those in-between years, we welcomed the ASTP boys who came and left on those rare passenger trains in New Wilmington. The Navy Air Corps at Hillside was part of our life then too.

In those days of the lost generation, the yellow brick building on Neshannock Avenue typified the changing school. It was a private hotel our freshmen year, a service center for the army and navy when we were sophomores, and finally College hall—a freshmen girls' dorm and later the "barracks" for returning ex-GI's.

We lived on memories, and we stayed to see them begin to be fulfilled. We heard rumors of a student union for three years. This year our class led the Student Union War Memorial Drive, for those buddies of ours who did not come back and for those who did.

War days, fun days, work days—they made up our four years, and now they're gone—a memory all the more poignant because they were hard days and we weathered them.

Jo Ann Cochran, Secretary; Chris Wagner,
President.

Our number has dwindled since that fall of '43 when we arrived at Westminster as eager green frosh, but our spirit speaks for itself in the way our class has led campus activities. Juniors this year have been seen working to meet the Argo, Holcad and Scrawl deadlines, at student government meetings, leading cheers at basketball games, starring in Little Theatre productions and spending musical afternoons in the Conservatory. We captained the basketball team and presided over Student Council.

It has been a busy year, full of normal dances, fraternity house parties, and good times. Names that we've heard read in chapel for two years now belong to familiar faces on campus. It has been great welcoming the fellows back; the years of anxiety and loneliness have become mere shadows of the past, never to be forgotten. Dreaming of the student union war memorial we have worked so hard this year to make a reality, we move forward to take our place as the graduating class of 1947.

Russell Herrscher, President; M. J. Sweeney,
Vice President; Betty Fair, Secretary.

We sophomores certainly are lucky. We didn't think so last year. We just sat there while the upperclassmen reminisced about "before the boys left" and "when the Navy was here," and all our dreams of college life were blacked out.

We had no memories of house parties, or football victories, or home coming days. Still high school, once exciting, seemed drab in comparison. It seemed we'd never see the day when there would be a two to one ratio in the opposite direction and sometimes one would have a date every night of the week.

Then one May morning we celebrated VE day, and three months later the Japanese surrender came. This year we could live in the present.

Past and future dreams were forgotten as we began a real college experience. The same men returned but the atmosphere was changed. Education, quick and thorough, was in demand. We had to get in rhythm with the new tempo or be left behind. There was an increase in work but there was one in our interest, too, and soon we were in step to step right up to our junior year.

Robert Cheeseman, Vice President; Martha Kilgore, Secretary; Wayne Harpold, President.

Those letters finally came, "You have been enrolled as a freshman at Westminster." How important we felt—until our first week of college life was over. Then came freshmen "hell week," or "The secret society of the black stockings." We remember praising the upperclassmen, singing the "Victory Song" unwillingly, and praying for rain. Finally, we appeared before the dreaded "black court," and were permitted to return to civilian clothes again.

With the campus looking friendly once more, we chose our representatives to the student governing bodies. Margaret Brown, Bob Cheeseman and Charles Pitcher took chairs on Student Council, while Jean Bricker and Jean Johnson were elected to Senate. Dark-haired Claire McClure made a striking "Ideal Freshman" for the Holcad, and Jack Ardolino gave a "smooth" performance as Romeo in the Little Theatre's production of "Romeo and Juliet."

Our own private parties were sponsored by the Freshmen Council prexied by Margaret Scull. Later, we were whirled into sorority and frat rushing, were permitted to enter the forbidden houses, and half of us were soon sporting little pledge pins. Second semester found our numbers enlarged by many ex-servicemen, and our Brown hall dining room reconverted into a GI cafeteria.

Yes, we were just "frosh," but it all adds up to this—We loved it.

Prexy

DR. ROBERT F. GALBREATH, SR.

Westminster's President

For 14 Years

The familiar figure you've seen hanging his hat and coat on the "tree" outside his office door . . . stopping to chat outside Old Main's door . . . always that friendly "Good Morning" or "Hello" that so typified the friendliness of the entire campus.

His office a busy place . . . the big desk piled high with letters . . . and several from ex-students serving Uncle Sam that he answered personally . . . pictured here with Mr. Russell Weller welcoming Mr. Robert Maxwell to Westminster in the position of alumni secretary.

Here Prexy's caught in the act with Dean of Women, Miss Stevenson, drying dishes at Mack Lodge. Always one to enter into the spirit of the occasion from basketball games to Sabbath chapel services, Prexy will be remembered for his genuine interest in people and their activities, as unforgettable as his 14 years of service.

With faculty and student alike, Prexy was a friend. In 14 years of Westminster he has met and conquered problems with the sure hand of a person able to depend upon his colleagues—this leadership a quality entrenched in his service.

Here with his horse, Major, Prexy's interests are those of a busy man whose relaxation came only when time allowed. Leaving Westminster now for his farm, his day will still be a busy one, his calendar a full one.

His boondockers, GI brogans, and clodhoppers are put aside for cleated football shoes and sneakers. He no longer shoulders a gun, but carries the pigskin or dribbles down the basketball floor. His split-second action behind the gun controls the drive of a golf-ball instead. The drill field is exchanged for the sports arena as the veteran returns.

Basketball

1945-1946

It was a highly successful basketball season for Coach Washabaugh, the team, and all others concerned. From what looked to be a none-too-bright outlook in early October, it turned into a good one; the won-lost record was better than most every one hoped for, and at times during the year the Titans showed a brand of ball that nearly put them into the New York post season tournaments.

Despite the fact that the Titans finished behind West Virginia in the district race, the Grovermen run up an impressive mark, and were bound for New York until the upset defeat at the hands of Geneva.

Coach had little to work with when the first game came up. Akron Goodyear, with Don Bennett in their lineup were first to test the Titans. Washabaugh started a quartet of lettermen and Jay Cochran, lone freshman to show much progress in the early practice trials. Don Heddlestone and Captain Chris Wagner were at the forwards. Big Fred Paine was placed on the pivot, with Dean Nelson and Cochran at the guards.

Substitute forward Wayne Harpold pulled the game out of the fire late in the fourth period when he dropped through four straight field goals. In the return engagement, the Rubber team gained revenge 50-36.

Fred Paine came down with the flu on the eve of the season's collegiate opener with Juniata. As so often happens, an unheralded freshman was sent to the center post. Six foot-four inch Chester Dembinski filled Paine's shoes and managed to hang on to the center post for the remainder of the semester. Dembinski finished the season as the team's highest scorer.

For the third straight year, the Titans took a licking at the hands of Oklahoma A. & M. and seven foot Bob Kurland. Several district fans journeyed to Buffalo for the annual battle only to see the Blue and White come out on the short end of a 44-23 count.

Coach Washabaugh continued to search for his best workable combination, and the Titans looked sloppy while failing to impress the Pittsburgh sporting fraternity in defeating Carnegie Tech in Pittsburgh 56-46. Dembinski continued to prove that the first night had been no fluke in playing a bang-up game.

Shortly after Christmas, the Titans were handed their second loss at Akron, the University of Akron Zippers taking the game 66-51. Coach moved Donny Heddlestone back at guard, moved "Diz" Nelson to forward with Wagner, Paine, and Dembinski completing the lineup. The new system worked to Washabaugh's satisfaction. The Blue Wave looked impressive in losing to the fast moving Zippers on their home court.

This year's annual eastern invasion included Madison Square Garden after a year's absence, and the Titans recommended themselves for another invitation by swamping St. Francis 76-48. On the road home, the Grovermen added Olmsted Army Air Field to the right side of the ledger 55-35.

With last year's thrilling 72-68 win still fresh in the minds of a few of the boys, the team came home to defend their five-year spotless home record against an in-and-out, sometimes red hot Geneva team.

The visitors grabbed an early lead, but the Washabaugh machine was quick to gain and hold a commanding margin throughout the game. When the final whistle blew, the Covenanters were on the short end of a 52-44 score. The loss put Geneva out of the district race, and brought the Titans back into the chase as the surprise team.

Pointing toward their meeting with the the better record of the Panthers giving them the edge. The Pitts went ahead by a sizable margin in the second period after a close first quarter. The Titans brought their followers back to their feet in the third and the early fourth quarter by closing the gap and moving ahead for a few moments. The loss of Dembinski on fouls late in the final period was the deciding factor, and with no one to fight the brilliant Hank Zeller on the boards, the Titans were pushed into the three slot behind the Panthers.

Olmsted Field flyers flew into New Wilmington, but that was about all they did of note, for University of Pittsburgh in Farrell, the Titans polished off Bethany College 59-41 on the banks of Buffalo Creek. This was followed by win number eight over Slippery Rock at the Westminster gym 71-38. Donny Heddleston held the Rockets high scoring Billy Biletnikoff to seven points in a great game of cat and mouse.

Coming into the Panther game, both teams were pointing to the number two spot in the district race behind West Virginia. It was considered a toss-up on the neutral Farrell High floor with after a few exciting moments in the first quarter, the Titans pulled away to win as they pleased.

An easy 64-46 win over Gannon College of Erie brought to an end the first half of the schedule. It was the last game for freshman Jay Cochran who left later for the service. It was also the first game for Bill McLhinney, Tom Jones, and Stan Wasik, all returned servicemen and former Titan lettermen.

With the three new stars in the lineup, along with several other outstanding new players, gave the Titans a new lease on life and Akron's Zippers were to be the first to taste the fruits of the new order. In the best played game of the year on the local hardwood, the Titans copped a two-point 55-53 win. Zipper followers complained bitterly about playing in the Titan band box, but their feelings lost steam when they were taken to the cleaners by several of their Ohio neighbors.

The Titans gave their best exhibition of the year while smothering Juniata at Huntington 74-39. The Grovermen could do no wrong that evening with Don Heddlestone looking very good scoring 20 points.

Bethany came to the Titan lair a week later, and nearly scored the season's outstanding upset when they lost to the Titans in the final 12 seconds 47-46.

The results of the Bethany game came to light in the Pitt game at Pittsburgh where the Blue and White whipped the Panther and displaced the Jungle Cats in the district standings as runnerups to West Virginia. The Titans tied up Hank Zeller, but the Pitt star still managed to be the most outstanding player on the floor.

The Westminster team moved past Carnegie Tech for a second time 67-45. Coming into the Geneva contest at Beaver Falls, Coach Washabaugh was reported to have a bid to the New York tournament in his pocket, conditional to the Titans winning their last two games. But Geneva smashed the hopes for a trip to the big city 65-60. A final period attempt by the Blue Wave to salvage the game proved futile, even after the loss of the Covies scoring ace Dave Podbielski for fighting.

Strictly anti-climax, Westminster wound up the season by polishing off the fast moving Slippery Rock Teachers. The Rockets had not lost a game since their game here, and owned a 13-game winning streak. The Titans won handily 77-49.

The Westminster outlook for the next season could only look bright as Washabaugh lost but two seniors, Chris Wagner and Stan Wasik. The Titan coach will have a starting team from this season back next winter with prospects of several stars of the past few years returning from the service.

Chester Dembinski finished the season as individual high scorer. The Freshman tallied 184 points, most of them in the first half of the season. After the return of the veteran Stan Wasik, Dembinski was used more in a utility role. Finishing only a point behind Dembinski was Don Heddlestone. The clever ball handler found himself at ease in the backcourt and developed into a definite scoring threat near the season's end.

Fred Paine, big junior guard was a third team all-state selection.

Returning basketball and football lettermen—Bob McDaniels, Walter Schumm, Paul Allen, Joe Demoise, John Henry, Chalmer Zech, Bob Washabaugh, Fred Brinkley, Tom Jones, Bill Scheid, Dick Newton, Clyde Hopkins, Ed Kusek, Don Huddleston, Scovel Carlson, Phil Myers, Bill McLhinney, Stan Wasik, and Tom Murphy—increased Block W's membership to twenty-two for the second semester. Organized since 1936, it is the varsity athletic club's aim to promote intramural athletics on campus. Intercollegiate competition in football is on the books for next year, when the club will return to a normal procedure.

Each year Block W sponsors a formal dance. This year it was the Varsity Ball in February when Mary Alsop, senior English-journalism major from Dormont, was crowned Block W queen. Fred Paine presented Mary with the traditional sweater and Westminster W.

W. A. A.

Women's Athletic Association has sponsored a year-round sports program since its founding on Westminster's campus in 1931.

WAA started its school year by welcoming freshmen at a breakfast hike. Because the weather was unsuitable, the usual hockey games were cancelled.

Freshmen started collecting their one hundred points for membership at Tuesday and Friday afternoon volleyball games. An intersorority contest proved that the TU'S were the volleyball champs.

During the second semester WAA sponsored a program of basketball which included an intersorority tournament. The penny carnival and swimming meet were enjoyed by the entire college.

Spring meant softball games, a farewell hike for seniors, and a dinner at the Tavern. WAA closed its season by winding the May Pole for the new May Queen.

Mermaids

The lights go on and the show begins. Fifty synchronized Mermaids, members of the girls' swimming club on Westminster's campus, stand ready to peel off and dive, as precisely as planes peel off and dive earthward.

For the next hour the jammed-to-the-railing audience wonders at the ease and grace with which these sea-creatures form flower and geometric patterns. Tandem swimming, backward rolls, floating spider webs, swimming in rhythm—it is poetry in motion.

The lights go out and the traditional finale begins. With a lighted candle in her hand, each Mermaid takes her place to form the glowing W that stands for all Westminster means.

Outing Club

Members of the Outing Club are most active while hiking to their cabin near the Mercer road. Future plans include a stone lodge, but for now over-nighting and week-ending at the log cabin carry out a club purpose of each member's leading an active outdoor life.

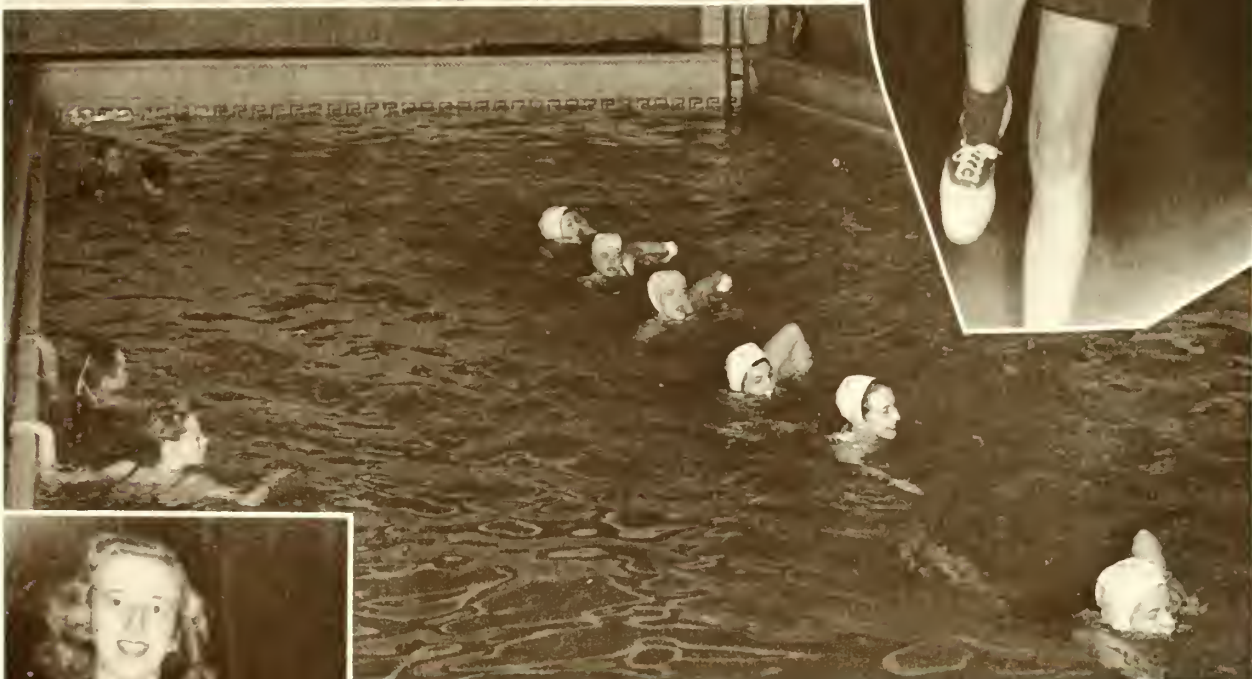

This fall Kathy Gehman, Harvest Queen elected from six sophomore women, reigned over the annual all-college party sponsored by the Outing Club.

Officers are: President, Jane Moore; Vice President, Lydia Zahradnik; Secretary, Ethel Gorby; Treasurer, Betty Ann Young; Hike Supervisors, Mary Lou Lash, Margery Cruikshank, Jean Caldwell.

One way ticket to the sanitarium—bus leaving immediately after the last excursion to the local p. o. with final copy for the printers—all this earned by a year of meeting deadlines, carrying on a correspondence course with the engravers, posting assignments, and scrambling the staff's collective brains for something original.

It's all over now and the Argo of '47 is on its way to press—Jo's chasing secretaries, department heads, deans, Herr Biberich, and Mr. Galbreath and his camera; Yarnel's "I gotta get to Newc in a hurry" station wagon pleadings; Lynn's subjects and stone steps that moved just as she snapped the pic; Grace's appendix giving out under the strain of it all; Bab's darkroom pallor; Dick's forgetful deadlines; Quig's after-dark battering of the typewriter; Evie's a Cappella spelling torment; Herr Biberich's hopefulness; Mr. Galbreath's interrupted accounting labs; and the staff's "but I've never seen this face before" identifying.

It's all over now—Jo's constant work, the moanings, the fun-moments and the unforgettable hours the staff spent contributing to both. The class of 47's Argo has gone to press.

The Holcad

Seven o'clock Holocaust—18th century typewriters ding, the Chief elevates the other eyebrow to the reporter's weekly lament, and the motto on the pale green wall states "there are no dull stories—ONLY BORED REPORTERS."

Collegiate clad—he wears a hat—Beveridge nattily strolls in to announce "there are no sports," while Jo claims she's been stoned 'cause her Holcadabra has been plagiarized by the author of Titan Tattletale.

Biology major, "but I never took typing," Janie inquires as to the whereabouts of the "comma" on her letter-less typewriter, while Judy renders her potent "and the fog it ung so eavy you was alf afraid to speak."

And the Chief calls for copy.

Knocking down her pompadour, Mary firmly proclaims that her feature just can't be written, then goes back to writing it til Boles and Quig sabotage the Holocaust's quiet with the latest flash on the state of Walter's "he's had it ever since Dewey ran for president" mustache.

Time is almost 9 p. m. according to Leroy the clock so Evie of society clicks for her Wednesday service contact with Boomtown's local telephone operator—Kap news hasn't made the deadline again. Nonchalantly Grace informs the news editor that she'll attempt to get her copy in by Friday noon providing nothing spectacular occurs to the state of the world.

With the usual malnourished state of the staff beginning to set in, orders are taken for the midnight brunch—

And the Chief calls for copy. 18th century typewriters ding, and another All-American Holcad is born in the Holocaust.

Scrawl

After innumerable conferences in the English office and countless trips to The Globe, Scrawl, student literary publication, finally published two issues under editor Pud McLane in the spring and fall of 1945. "Spring of Peace," the theme of the first issue, looked forward to the end of the war and Westminster's reconversion. "Blueprints of the Future," a later issue, advanced hopes for campus blueprints as well as life's blueprints.

Prize-winning article in the two magazines was written by Marjorie Boles and Judy Gordon. Dr. Virginia T. Everett and Martha Barnhill were the guiding forces, Dr. Everett giving assistance in choosing material to live up to the standards of the NSPA of which Scrawl is a member. Miss Barnhill aided the editor and art editor, Babs Stanton, in makeup.

Little Theatre

Early November found the Little Theatre busy with production of three one-act plays: "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals," "Camille," and "The Ugly Duckling" under the direction of Donald Barbe.

Last year's Oscar winner, Bob Alter, naturally assumed the Scotch dialect of the conceited, bemedaled soldier unwittingly melting to the affections of a meek, unmarried Scotch woman who longed to have a soldier son. Freshman "find" Olita Kirk played the sweet old "Mrs." Dowey in this excellent performance of J. M. Barrie's "The Old Lady Shows Her Medals."

Joseph Alter, Bob's brother, returned to the Little Theatre after three year's absence to play A. A. Milne's His Majesty the King of "The Ugly Duckling." Joe was supported by veteran actor, Karl Moll playing the Chancellor; Amelia Duff, the Queen; freshman Sue Toby, the Princess who turned beautiful on her wedding day; the lucky Prince, James Oravetz; Dulcibella, the impetuous lady-in-waiting, Shirley McKinney; and Carlo, valet to the Prince, Tom Danner.

"Camille," a difficult part for even an experienced player, was well portrayed by Helen Finlay. Assisting Helen's portrayal of Charles George's tragic, penniless French aristocrat were Nancy Lewis, Helen Spenser, Betty Womer and Mildred Stoetzer as fellow-members of the waning French aristocracy.

Spring production got underway with the presentation of "Kind Lady," a three-act drama directed by Dr. Cordray. Edward Chodorov's play is unwound by the clever scheming of cheap, ruthless Henry Abbott, played by Bill Horean, who exploits the home of Mary Herries, wealthy English spinster, with Helen Finlay and Mary Ellen Stewart double cast in the role.

Noel Coward's "Blithe Spirit" was the last major production of the Little Theatre and another gold star performance for the group.

Romeo and Juliet

Shakespeare came to Westminster, and the Little Theatre assumed the proportions of an Elizabethan stage when "Romeo and Juliet" was presented.

The coveted role of Juliet was played by Harriet Sarver and Doris Dietz. During one performance, Juliet had company on the balcony in that famous scene. One of the stagehands was caught unaware when the curtain opened, and spent the rest of the scene flat on the platform at Juliet's feet. Another tense moment came when the record player for the ball scene refused to play. The situation was saved by Dave Flamino as Father Capulet who begged his guests to be merry and "just mill around."

Freshman, Jack Ardolino, appeared as Romeo. Other newcomers were Art Schrieber as Friar Lawrence, Ed Good as Benvolio, Janet Morton as Lady Capulet, and Bob Johnson and Skip Davis as Paris. Bill Horean, returned veteran, made his return debut as Mercutio.

Westminster's Radio Workshop! . . . W.P.I.C. . . . Sharon . . . Microphones . . . Signals . . . Controls . . . the place of taut-wire tenseness and excitement. This year for the first time in Westminster College radio history the W. R. W. is a real broadcasting station; there has been a through line installed from Sharon to the campus, and every Wednesday at 1:15 p. m. the Westminster Hour is presented to a live, listening public.

The programs consist of Mr. Charles Sager with the Westminster Singers, variety numbers, and dramatic selections. A program of Brahms' love waltzes, solos by Jeane Meyers and Francis Peterson, songs by Pud McLane and Janet Floyd, the K-Dettes—Helen Bissell, Marilyn Thomas and Peggy Pigman—these are just a few highlights of our musical programs.

Dramatic selections have been along the intense and forceful form. There have

The first one "The Tell-Tale Heart" starring Bill Horean; the "House of Usher" with Bob Alter and Karl Moll sharing the leading roles; and "Lygeia"; "Morella", "The Pit and the Pendulum". "Cinderella", the old and beloved fairy tale, was also produced by the Workshop.

In this past year with Professor Donald Barbe, the Boss-Man, and Miss Helen Cushman, director of the club, the Workshop has been more than active. In the club there have been such speakers as Vicki Corey, script writer from KDKA, and Dr. William Thomas, journalism department head at Westminster.

Under the direction of Professor Donald O. Cameron, the band is a must for basketball games and pre-commencement concerts. Headed by twirler Lu Moreland, the band can be counted on for faithful renditions of the Titan victory song while our traditional Westminster hymn has a certain majestic air about it when presented by the band.

Neighbors to the conserv and passers-by are used to the "back room antics" of the practicers in their weekly sessions. Band members themselves can remember the ASTP retreats on the Quadrangle while students look back on those few months when the band played a big part in the "military air" on campus.

Promising a bigger and better band with next year's increased enrollment, we look forward to "W" formations on the football field and strutting majorettes when Westminster once more welcomes the grid season after a three year lapse without a Titan football team.

The orchestra, too, can be accredited with much of the music heard drifting from conserv's back room. Also under Professor Cameron's direction, the orchestra dismembered itself during the spring months due to an increasingly heavy schedule in other phases of the music department. We're looking forward to next year's concerts and more of the familiar sounds streaming from the conserv's open windows and long halls.

Woman's Glee Club

"Going to Glee Club practice" is an expression common among Westminster women. You hear it every Wednesday afternoon as the club meets, eighty-strong, for their weekly practice in the Conserv's large back room.

Sopranos, second sopranos, contraltos and altos, presided over by their conductor, Miss Ada Peabody, the Glee Club boasts both music and non-music majors in its large membership.

Preparations for the club's annual spring recital comprises most of the work and practice sessions for the organization. This year's work was climaxed by the group's May recital in the college chapel. Interspersed with vocal soloists and instrumentalists, the program was a success typical of those so diligently worked for by these girls on their way to the Conserv each week.

Headed by music majors, president Marilyn Ashbaugh and secretary-treasurer, Marian Buchanan, the Glee Club typifies the cooperative spirit that makes the world of music a reality on Westminster's campus.

A cappella Choir

Directed by Charles I. Sager

Another active group in Westminster's sphere of music is the A cappella Choir, a mixed group of singers numbering sixty voices. Under the direction of Mr. Charles I. Sager, the choir specializes in recital performances before the college audiences, nearby towns and radio appearances. Several times members of the A cappella Choir and the Westminster Singers have joined for presentations such as the Easter recital in New Castle in April.

The college broadcasting station, WRW, has recorded several selections by the choir as well as presented the choir's music on their weekly programs.

"Westminster and Music"

The Westminster Singers are a madrigal group organized under the leadership of Mr. Sager as a new project this past year. Dwelling primarily with waltzes and contemporary part songs, they have participated in several radio programs. Their last radio appearance before the close of the year comprised a one-half hour performance over Pittsburgh's KDKA.

The group appeared with an organ accompaniment in Carnegie Hall in the spring, also singing at the Home for Blind in nearby Farrell.

Practice hours were long and concentrated for "The Messiah" presented by a large group of singers consisting of many talented college students and local New Wilmington's music enthusiasts. All members of the music department's faculty took part in what has been termed the best musical presentation in this district for several years.

The entire Messiah group is pictured below. College talent present includes members of the A cappella Choir, Women's Glee Club, Westminster Singers and the music faculty.

It's not

"Just Religion" . . .

It's not "just religion" on Westminster's campus—it's a spirit. It's more than the beauty of Wallace Memorial Chapel or the reverent quietness of Easter sunrise services outdoors. It's that something fine and clean that pervades the campus. It's instilled in the beauty, the friendliness, the stateliness. Call it the spirit of Westminster if you like; give it your own definition, since we all feel it and all have a lasting impression from it.

Though a United Presbyterian college, Westminster also encourages the formation of religious groups of other churches in addition to the college YWCA and YMCA. Students are free to join organizations of their choice and encouraged to do so.

Headed by officers' cabinets, these organizations maintain well-planned programs for the year, not only for their own membership, but for the entire college family. These range from Sabbath evening group discussions and Wednesday evening discussions and talks for YM and YW to Friday evening college entertainment for the Student Union Fund.

No, religion on Westminster's campus is not a cut and dried, formal dedication of faith as much as it is a pervading spirit of that love, friendliness, and majesty that make the years at Westminster the best years of one's life. And the past fourteen years with Prexy have been fuller years because of his personification of this spirit.

Y.M.C.A.

First Row: Mr. Christy, J.
Reed, R. Alter, D. Dickinson.
Sittig.

On Wednesday evening the members of YMCA meet in the United Presbyterian Church for their weekly meeting under President Bob Alter.

This year such topics as "College Men on a Christian Campus" and "What Does Education Do to My Religion?" were discussed. In March the discussion centered around "Facing the Color Line" with Negro guest speakers from Xenia Theological Seminary in Pittsburgh.

In the spring, YMCA sponsored a Marriage Relations Course with members of the faculty giving their views on the different aspects involved.

Officers are: President, Bob Alter; Vice President, Oliver Ohsberg; Secretary, George Coleman; Faculty Advisor, Mr. Christy. The officers are aided by the Program, Publicity, and Music Committees.

Every Wednesday evening in Ferguson Hall lounge, YWCA gets together for its weekly meeting with President Dorothy Pollock and her cabinet planning the programs. This year Dr. Galbreath gave his talk "Dream Girl"; and such subjects as "Sororities: Yes or No" and "Puns, Par-snips, and Poetry" were discussed.

It has always been a YWCA tradition to help freshmen girls become better acquainted with upperclass women. So this year as in years past YW assigned a Big Sister to each girl and then gave a Big and Little Sister picnic in the fall.

Officers are: President, Dorothy Pollock; Vice-President, Helen Newhams; Secretary, Barbara Miller; Treasurer, Ann Crill; and Advisor, Mrs. Wayne Christy.

First Row: McKnight, Shoup.
Second Row: Gettemy, Dawson, Perry.

Meeting at 6:30 every Sabbath evening in the United Presbyterian Church, Westminster's Christian Endeavor had an active 1945-46 year.

With the members divided into six groups, CE discussed such topics as "The City I Would Build" and "Personality Snags." Mrs. Wayne Christy and Chaplain McKnight were guest speakers.

Officers are: President, Barbara Miller; Vice-President, Martha Shoup; Secretary, Helen Newhams; Treasurer, Jean Pollock; and Sponsor, J. Ralph Neale, D. D.

Wesley Fellowship at Westminster has foremost among its aims that to help create inter-denominational cooperation on the campus and to have fellowship with religious groups on other campuses.

An active and vital group, Wesley Fellowship meets every Sunday evening at the Methodist Church to discuss such subjects as "More Effective Christian Living."

This year Wesley sponsored a gay nineties all-college party to benefit the Student Union Memorial Fund drive.

Officers are: President, Ardel Herzog; Vice-President, Joe Alter; and Secretary-Treasurer, Alice Frye.

Service

Sittig, Van Dyke, Dawson, DeHaas

Life Service Group, founded on Westminster campus in the spring of 1944, is for all men and women students who wish to dedicate their lives to the service of Christ regardless of the vocation they choose.

This group of students who wish to promote Christian fellowship sponsors Gospel teams, sends entertainment to children in orphanages and to older people in sanitariums and homes for the aged, and establishes prayer groups in the dormitories.

Officers are: President, Herman DeHaas; Vice President, Carlyn Dawson; Secretary, Julia Anderson; Treasurer, Flora Van Dyke.

With the double aim and purpose of spreading the gospel and bringing people to Christ through the service, the Westminster College Gospel Team gives college young people an opportunity for Christian service and training in leadership.

Under Manager Charles Sittig, freshman, and seven leaders, Gospel Team members take complete charge of worship services in various churches and institutions in the surrounding community. Some of these are: Gibson Heights United Presbyterian Church, Youngstown; the Fourth United Presbyterian Church, Pittsburgh; the New Bedford United Presbyterian Church, New Bedford; the Lawrence County Home; and the Overlook Sanitarium.

A team is composed of eight members, among which are speakers, devotional leaders, and soloists.

Gospel team leaders are: Carlyn Dawson, William McClelland, Mina Gracie, Jane McKnight, James Corry, Mary Eliza Stewart, and Jane Perry. The music chairman is Jean McCachran.

Student Government

Links between the student body and faculty are strengthened by student government bodies with faculty advisors. Rules and penalties are democratically administered by virtue of constitutions formulated by students and approved by college administration.

Student Council

Student Council, campus governing body, had as its big project of the year the Student Union Drive which it organized in cooperation with the Holcad staff. A great part of the $6,000 goal was reached by the end of the first semester and proceeds from organization projects boosted the total.

Second semester saw the sponsoring of tea dances, chapel programs, getting nearer the goal, and holding an all-college dance the night of May Day.

Ruth Wright, our president for the first semester, graduated in January, so Skip Carlson, returned veteran and former member of Council, took over the duties of president after his re-election by the student body.

Officers are: President, Skip Carlson; Vice-President, Chuck Townsend; Secretary, Dorothy Pollock; Treasurer, Bob Cheeseman.

Pan-hellenic Council

Pan-Hellenic Council is a group of twelve girls representing the six national sororities at Westminster. This year it reorganized the whole system of rushing which was carried out second semester, our first try at second semester rushing. Pan-Hell issued freshmen sorority handbooks, gave the annual tea for freshmen women to introduce rush-week, and put on "Picnic in Purgatory," the $200 proceeds from which went to the Student Union Drive.

The Council's main purpose is to promote friendliness and cooperation among the sororities, and to work out the troubles and problems of all and each cooperatively.

Representatives are: Alpha Gamma Delta, Jean Lawton, Jo Cochran; Beta Sigma Omicron, Dorothy Pollock, Jean Pollock; Chi Omega, Margaret McLane, Judy Gordon; Kappa Delta, Dottie Sue Boliver, Jane Moore; Sigma Kappa, Jean Thompson, Marje Fleming; Theta Upsilon, Harriet Sarver, Doris Dietz.

Officers are: President, Jean Lawton; Vice-President, Jean Thompson; Secretary, Dorothy Pollock; Treasurer, Dottie Sue Boliver.

Senate

House limits?—That means Senate is at work. Making and enforcing rules for Westminster's women is the job of Senate, women's governing body. From publishing the freshmen handbook "This Way Please" to meting out penalties for broken rules, Senate members keep Westminster women conscious of good conduct.

But penalizing isn't the only activity for Senate. Sponsoring entertainment at Thanksgiving and a hypnotism program with Mr. Biberich in April have kept members busy too.

Senate membership includes two freshmen, two sophomores, three juniors and three seniors elected by all college women.

Officers are: President, Doris Dietz; Vice President, Oly Mae Wall; Recording Secretary, Jean Forrest; Corresponding Secretary, Alice May Smith; and Treasurer, Jane Moore.

Interfrat Council

The purpose of Westminster College's Inter-Fraternity Council is to make laws and rules favoring the fraternities and promote friendly relations between them. This year the Council adopted a new Constitution and by-laws to be published and distributed to anyone interested.

In an effort to establish pre-war customs Inter-Fraternity Council held its annual dance at the New Castle Field Club. This was the first college dance off campus since the war.

Members are: Kappa Phi Lambda, Joe Krakowski, Bill Henry, Bob Dicks; Sigma Phi Epsilon, Don Haight, Bob Hope, Scovel Carlson; Alpha Sigma Phi, Gail Schuler, Chuck Hildebrand, Eugene Yarnel, Charles Livingston.

Officers are: President, Don Haight; Vice-President, Bob Dicks; Secretary-Treasurer, Chuck Hildebrand.

KATHY and HER COURT

Standing: Mary Louise Cleland, Mary Louise Sands.
Seated: Nancy Beringer, Queen Kathy, Marjory Cruikshank, Ann Frankenberger.

Sponsored annually by the Outing Club, election of the Harvest Queen is made by student ballot from sophomore girls selected on the basis of participation in outdoor life and sports. Kathy was crowned at the club's annual dance, Friday evening, October 26, 1945.

From barracks lights-out to frat house all-night sessions; from the USO and PX to fraternity house parties; from jeeps to jalopies the vet's life takes on a new or renewed light. His brothers replace his buddies in those long bull sessions as the vet replaces his shoulder patch with his fraternity pin.

Alpha Sigma Phi

First Row: Holt, Jones, Yarnel, Paine, DeHaas, Abel.

Second Row: Hall, Livingston, Hildebrand, Brooks, Aiken, Nicoletti, Shott.

Third Row: Scheid, Wagner, Fiscus, Jones, Townsend, Book, Parker.

1845-1945, 100 years of fraternity and seven years ago Alpha Sigma Phi came to Westminster. Since that day over 275 men have worn its badge on the campus.

War years found our number reduced, but 1945-1946 has meant the beginning of post-war fraternity and the returning members, now war veterans, have strengthened the fraternity to pre-war levels.

Under the first semester leadership of Gene Yarnel, president; Dave Flamino, rush chairman; and Fred Paine, pledgemaster—a pledge class of twenty-four members was inducted. The annual semi-formal pledge reception dinner-dance was held at the Castleton Hotel and the pantomime program by the pledge class will long be remembered. The Christmas formal at the William Penn Hotel in Pittsburgh showed the real post-war spirit and many similar events are planned for the future.

Basketball, volleyball, and softball kept Alpha Sig sportsmen in the limelight. Captain Chris Wagner led the Titans through another good season of basketball, closing his career on the court for Westminster. Fred Paine, however, will be back for his final year with the Titans.

Graduation takes veterans Chick Livingston, Jack Bergdoll, Jack Warner, and Bill Scheid, along with Scoop Schuler from Alpha Nu. May 1946 marks the end of a good year of fraternity and a new century of fraternity service for the Alpha Sigs.

Juniors: Edward Aiken, Charles Book, Ed Freeman, Fred Paine, Herman DeHaas, Jim Shott, Charles Townsend, Eugene Yarnel, Paul Halenda, Jim Hall.

Sophomores: Clarence Abel, Paul Fiscus, David Flamino, Charles Hildebrand, Andrew Nicoletti, Ted Holt, Ross Jones.

1945—Peace—The campus returns to normal, especially the fraternities, which had been operating with reduced membership all during the war years.

Remember how we moved into Senior Lodge and tried to make it seem as if we were in the house on Furnace Hill. Fraternity social life came back, too. Remember the hayride when we pushed the wagon most of the way. And that first semester when Moe, Mick and all the rest came back for weekends while waiting "anxiously" for second semester classes. Yes, it was really good to have most of the old gang back to take part in bull sessions and haunt the Grille again.

Then second semester finally started and we really had our own white house on Furnace Hill. We rushed to get our furniture in and the house ready for the Valentine Party—the first real house party since 1943. Remember planning for the re-opening of the kitchen, refurbishing of the house, and the one after another things that made it the Sig Ep House again.

The fellows came back, we rushed, pledged forty-three, held "Hell Week," and kept greeting more of the old crowd who plan to return next fall.

It's been a year to be remembered for Sigma Phi Epsilon—The "goodbyes" of '42 and '43 have been exchanged for the "hello's" of '45 and '46.

Officers are: President Don Haight; Vice-President, Ray Bower; Secretary, Dick Downing; Comptroller, Jim Reed.

Seniors: Ray Bower, Don Haight, Clyde Hopkins, Jim Reed, Joe Sharp, Stan Wasik.

Kappa Phi Lambda took three firsts in the first peacetime semester, most important from a fraternity standpoint being the number of pledges. Leading the other two frats, twenty-six men pledged Kap in the first period, topping the number of actives on campus and bringing the total membership to 46.

In interfraternity athletics, the Kap A team, sparked by Chuck Elgin and Joe Krakowski, met all comers on the basketball floor and ended the season with a record of all wins and only minor injuries.

Anxious to reestablish the social privileges of past years as soon as possible, an eating club was formed by the house at the beginning of the second semester. We put Chuck Elgin and Bob Dicks in charge.

With the returning of many old members, names that were just names before have come to be associated with familiar faces on campus. Though the house was kept open during the war years, it was never so fully inhabited as now.

House parties are now the rule rather than the exception—the renewed life at the house is our symbol of the renewed peacetime fraternity life.

Officers are: President, Bob Dicks; Secretary, Bob Johnson; Treasurer, Robert Hofer.

Seniors: David McHenry, Wilfred Gibson.

Juniors: Joseph Alter, Robert Dicks, John McMullen, George Wanner, Robert Wanner.

Sophomores: Willard Acheson, Richard Beveridge, Charles Elgin, William Henry, Joseph Krakowski, Sherwood Wolfson, Robert Beisheim.

It's the Alpha Gam house now—that traditional white manor answering to Thompson house for so many years' mail call.

There's Mrs. Mac with her fifteen charges "housewarming" in early fall with pie a-la-mode and prexy's coffee after their all-sorority swimming party . . . Mrs. Russell partying for us at the Tavern and the picnics at the Russell summer house . . . the Christmas parties and sisters returning after the holidays complete with frat pins . . . the rush parties and pledging of nine with our Tavern dinner and hilarious limericks between courses . . . black monogrammed cardigans . . . midnight-platter parties and feeds . . . the houseparty with bridge, dancing and those stacks of ham salad sandwiches that reached till noon the next day . . . our Parents' Day dinner at the Tavern . . . pledges entertaining the actives with hopes they'll forget the pledge points . . . our Peach Garden all-college formal and Pledge Princess crowning . . . packing boxes for Europe . . . partying our initiates at the Tavern once more . . . after-class hurrying back to the manor's back-yard for those first spring rays.

Complete with its new sign it's the Alpha Gam house now and another Alpha Gam year.

It might look a wee bit crooked if one doesn't tilt his head to the side when he glances at it; there may seldom be a bulb in its front porch light socket; there's still a hole in its living room wall's plaster where the picture didn't quite stay; and its water is often too frigid—but it is Sigma Kappa House and we do love it. In-the-house-living has been different from all other campus living. Yet it has seemed . . .

Like always to be leaning on one another around the piano singing one above another "Shoe Shine Boy"—sharing second floor's washbasin plug with third floor—eating our kitchen-cooked spaghetti off paper plates . . .

Just usual to turn our chapter room into sleeping quarters with beds, blankets, and stuffed animals—our kitchen into the setting for early morn teeth-brushing sessions—our living room into "paint cups and yourself shop" during rushing . . .

So right to see our couples on the porch around 9:25 every after-dark—our sixteen pledges exchanging their gold pins for the ruby and pearl . . .

Just as living in the House has been perfect living for us, so has our "another year as Sigma Kappas."

Thanks for the memories! As we look back on our college days we find that the memories we hold closest—the ones we will remember longest are those of our sorority. Chi Omega memories will keep building up all the rest of our lives.

We remember week-ending last summer at ML's cottage—all day roast on the rock and all night vigil with the ungentine—Beringer winning the prize for top watermeloneater—Pud and Janet in the inner tube.

We'll never forget moving day this fall—juggling books on our heads and dishes in our hands on the long trek from the old Fergie suite to the new house of our own—the window seat—bulletin board—choosing paper for our living room—our mascot owl—making fudge in the kitchen at midnight—jam sessions in the playroom—our Stardust Ball at college hall raising money for the Student Union—the worries and final list of rush week—Corrine Shott's birthday party—pledging with Maggi forgetting her right from left hand.

Of course, we'll not forget our national standing—the "Eleusis" and the "Owl"—Judy's award for best story in Scrawl.

We'll not forget.

"That little white doll house down on Maple Street
Is crammed-packed with KD's sweet;
So let's now enter and take a look Into every cluttered niche and nook."

are the words of the KDKD announcer ascending the porch of the house displaying that green and white shingle. We open the door amid strains of "There is no girl like a KD girl," finding ourselves among green reindeer sweaters and crew caps. Feeling somewhat alien, we sneak off to a corner. From pieced bits of conversation we find that these gals are rehearsing for an entertainment to be broadcast from the Banner Room of the Hotel Wilmington on the following evening. The phonograph in the corner does its bit and a poised dancing doll appears only to be metamorphosed into a grinning "Cass Daly." Off onto a tangent now with a chorus of "You can tell a KD by the way she snores at night" and another ad lib by the M. C. While a demure personality draws attention with her "Helen Hayes-the-second" impersonation, some begin to gather books and move toward the door. Then with a nudge, a wink and "Classes, you know," they leave their KD doll house.

Shaffer house, now the Beta Sigs' own because of that incomparable Beta Sig touch in its rooms and on its trimmings, must have chuckled as its walls and windows viewed Betas at their "come-as-you-are" party in ridiculously real apparel.

At Christmas it beamed as its living room sparkled with a blue-lighted Christmas tree, silver with icicles, as its doorways were wreathed in pine and holly, and its chandeliers hinted mistletoe.

We know we saw its wise nod of approval as we contributed to Westminster's Student Union; celebrated our traditional founders' day; gave rush parties; planned our inter-sorority party and a spring all-college party; "prexy'd" YWCA, Kappa Delta Pi, Alpha Iota, Christian Endeavor, and Theta Gamma Mu; and heard the wedding vows of Betty Smith and alum Pat Taylor.

For us Westminster means in a large part—Beta Sig—and we are proud to be part of them both.

Theta Upsilon

First Row: Crill, McKnight, Burton, Gehman, Rocks, Hoon, Hench, Second Row: Gettemy, Moreland, Myers, Lalor, Albertson, Holleran, Morgan.
Third Row: Silk, Skinner, Sweeney, Waite, Hojer, Carson.

Our Theta U pin, it's such a little thing but it means so much to us. It's replica in lights can be seen every night shining from the window of the former Elliott House.

Theta U pins sparkled around the campfire of our co-ed weiner roast; at basketball games on the large white "W" of head cheerleader, Burt, and the royal blue sweater of twirler Lu; in Old Main some days on black and white checked jumpers and other days on pastel sweaters.

It seemed to shine with a special luster when Kathy Gehman, its wearer, was crowned Harvest Queen, and when Mo, first Cwens president on campus, attached a small crown shaped pin to hers. Even Romeo's Juliet wore a Theta U pin when Dee and Hazy took the double part.

Theta U pin wearers entertained the whole college at Rainbow Terrace when the Man of the Year, Scoop Schuler, was introduced.

Still thinking of our pin we are proudest of all as we remember replacing seventeen iris pledge pins with shining new Theta U badges on this year's pledge class.

Officers are: President, Harriet Sarver; Vice President, Doris Dietz; Secretary, Lois Burton; and Treasurer, Dorothy Roessing.

Seniors: Doris Dietz, Jean Hamilton, Austa Hojer, Dorothy Roessing, Harriet Sarver, Eleanor Silk, Dortha Brush.

Sophomores: Betty Carson, Margaret Gettemy, Norma Hench, Pat Lalor, Shirley Morgan, Kathy Gehman, Helen Holleran, Jane McKnight, Mary Ellen Skinner, Mary Jane Sweeney, Lois Waite.

Quadrangle

First Row: Friggle, Smith, Replogle, Albanese.
Second Row: Ringer, Horton, Dawson, Herzog, Spenser.

The highlights for the 1945-46 year of Quadrangle, independent women's organization, were the participation in raising funds for the Student Union and packing boxes of clothing for the helpless European children.

Dinners, engagements, recitals, parties, and special speakers also constituted a part of our special events for the year. Inter-collegiate basketball topped our list of winter events.

In March, the formal tea for freshmen was held in Ferguson lounge with our sponsors pouring.

Installation of officers was held at the residence of Miss Alice K. Schuster; initiation at Ferguson.

Our former sponsors, Mrs. Neil McNall and Mrs. Leon Marshall were replaced by Miss Alice K. Schuster, Miss Martha Barnhill, and Dr. Virginia Everett.

Officers are: President, Audra Replogle; Vice-President, Edna Friggle; Secretary-Treasurer, Marjory A. Smith.

Seniors: Roslyn Barss, Ardel Herzog, Betty Langguth, Helen Newhams, Betty J. Nickerson, Jean Ringer.

Juniors: Esther Albanese, Martha Beech, Mary Brownlee, Carlyn Dawson, Genevieve Dick, Janet Evarts, Edna Friggle, Margaret Kaufman, Grace Kees, Carolyn McElwain, Katherine Orr, Elise Ridley, Marjory Smith, Helen Spenser.

Sophomores: Pauline Brown, Pauline Critchlow, Edith Durham, Gail Horton, Margaret Puchta, Audra Replogle.

Pledges: Catherine Roedema, Dorothy Campbell, Jean Burt, Sally Sano, Marie Oden, Frances McGaffick, Winifred Eva Wenz, Beverly Berkholz.

Spartans

Campman, Vance, Ohsberg, Keefer, Alter, Corry

Spartans is an organization of independent men organized in the fall of 1941 for the purpose of securing for themselves a more representative participation in the all-college program. Inactive during the years 1943-1944-1945, it was reorganized this year, 1945-1946.

Spartans were represented in the intra-mural sports program; they also retained the scholarship cup for the third year in succession.

Any man not pledging to a social fraternity is eligible for membership in Spartans.

Officers are: President, H. Oliver Ohsberg; Vice-President, Robert Alter; Secretary-Treasurer, James Corry.

Familiar Faces

Top: An Alpha Sig quintet and femme; T House and the AG fire escape.
 Middle: The old home town; Allen and Tellin twosome; Chi O cheesecake.
 Bottom: Is that a KD sweater on Diz; TU initiates; Jean and Babs—just for the effect;
 Brink and twosome; 8 KD's and one poor camera; Wanted: the owner of those biceps.

Familiar Places

Top: Peg and Margie Lou evicted? Jean hits 'em hard; Don and Skip overlook Pitch; Fred--Fore!

Middle: K-9's on campus; Betsy's number's up; Pensive Don; Skip on the stoop.

Bottom: Yarnel and shoes; Lois and Evie converse over Dee's tee; Hittin' the rail again.

From battle ribbons and good conduct medals to honorary keys and convocation services; from sharpshooting accuracy to "B" averages; from the silver star to all-college Who's Who. With his honorable discharge button on his lapel and his keys on his watch chain the vet returns to peace and campus life.

Honoraries"

Smith, Durham, Wilkinson, Skinner, Gorby

Alpha Iota

Alpha Iota, international business fraternity, received its international affiliation in 1944. Its purpose is to promote interest in the business world and to familiarize its members with modern, progressive business methods.

To become a member of Alpha Iota a woman student must have completed twelve hours of secretarial science or commercial teaching and have a "B" average in those courses.

Officers are: President, Ethel Gorby; Vice President, Mary Ellen Skinner; Secretary, Marjory Smith; and Treasurer, Marilyn Thomas.

Stoehr, Frye, Shoup, Beck, Jones, McLane

Scroll

Scroll club was organized on campus to encourage interest in student writing and in literature. The first meeting was held in February, 1939, when a constitution was drawn up and the requirements for admission approved by the students.

This year, the program theme has been "Writing During the War in Western Europe and the United States." Members have discussed the destruction of literature as well as the writing that has been contributed as a result of the war. Original manuscripts by students have been read at each meeting.

In March, Scroll entertained the new poet, Paul Engle, a part of the regular college lecture series. The club also sold Pennsylvania Dutch Cook Books to raise money for the Student Union Memorial.

Officers are: President, Marjorie Beck; Vice-President, Beverly Frye; Secretary, Eleanor McMichael; Treasurer, Margaret McLane.

Ohsberg, Corry

Karux

Karux, Westminster's honorary pre-ministerial fraternity, was organized in the spring of 1932 to promote acquaintance and helpful fellowship among pre-ministerial students, to give information and inspiration to men planning to enter the Christian ministry, and to promote Christian ideals and activities upon the college campus. Students planning to enter the Christian Ministry are eligible for election.

During the school year 1945-1946, Karux sponsored one daily chapel service a month and one Sabbath evening service a semester. Karux also worked toward a closer union with similar organizations in the other United Presbyterian Colleges.

Officers are: President, H. Oliver Ohsberg; Secretary-Treasurer, James Shott; Chaplain, George Coleman.

Target

Sheppard, Fitzsimmons

Target, senior women's honorary, was organized in 1928, with its purpose being to sponsor scholarship, activity and campus service. Requirements for membership are an all-college average of "B" or above, and active participation in campus activities.

Target started off this year by giving pajama parties in the fall to acquaint all freshmen women with the purpose and activities of the organization. Sponsoring Tap Day program for honorary organizations in chapel, selling memorial plates in the bookstore, and sponsoring a midnight movie were just a few of Target's activities this year.

Officers are: President, Jane Sheppard; Vice President, Barbara Miller; Secretary, Harriet Sarver; Treasurer, Anna Mae Fitzsimmons; Historian, Betty Jane Nickerson.

Back Row: J. Cochran, B. Stanton, B. Brye, M. Alsop, R. Stoehr, M. McLane, B. Sheffler, J. Sidey, E. Hill, G. Jones.

Pi Delta Epsilon

To provide a clearing house for activities and problems of students working on campus publications, the Westminster chapter of Pi Delta Epsilon, national journalism fraternity, was established in 1934. Requirements for membership are two years work on a campus publication and an editorial or business executive position at the end of that time.

This year Pi Delt started the dollars mounting for the Student Union War Memorial when its members voted to give $100 in honor of Pi Delts Robert Shaeffer and Alan Harper killed in World War II.

County fair time came to the gym March 9 under the auspices of the local chapter and an institute for high school journalists was held in April.

Officers are: President, Ruth Stoehr; Vice President, Judy Gordon; and Secretary-Treasurer, Beverly Frye.

Back Row: J. Potter, D. Boon, J. Gebauer, J. McKnight, N. Hench.

Cwens

One of the newest organizations on campus this year is Cwens, national honorary for sophomore women. On October 27 and 28 installation and initiation were held for all former and present members of Sceptre, the local group, organized in the fall of 1942. Qualifications for membership are: pleasing personality, good character, participation in activities, as well as standing in the upper third of their class.

Since then the active members have brought Cwens to the campus eye through a Christmas party for freshmen girls, and its Tap Day. They also sponsored an all-college Sadie Hawkins' Dance; crowned Helen Nicely, Daisy Mae, and Chet Dembinski, Lil' Abner.

Throughout the year Cwens has remembered its purpose—to stimulate interest in scholarship, leadership, and participation in campus activities.

Officers are: President, Shirley Morgan; Vice-President, Jane Randolph; Secretary, Peggy Pigman; and Treasurer, Betty Luther.

Masquers

First Row: Brown, Horean, Finlay.
 Second Row: Jones, Roemer, Stewart.
 Third Row: Spenser, Alter, Hildebrand, Moll.

Blue jeans, the vague stare of an actor as he mumbles by reciting his lines, the wiener roast at Herr Biberich's, and a party in the woodpile for new speech majors—all these helped make-up another year for Masquers, the honorary dramatic fraternity.

Membership is gained by earning points by doing work in Little Theatre and WRW. It's objective is to recognize outstanding acting ability by awarding "Oswalds" to the best actor and actress of the year. These are judged and chosen by a faculty committee.

This year Masquers presented "Survey of Unrefined Art" for benefit of the Student Union Memorial Fund. There were also the one-act plays which went on tour, sponsored by the alumni groups in various neighboring towns, during the second semester.

Officers are: President, Harriet Sarver; Vice President, Bob Alter; Secretary, Mary Ellen Stewart; Treasurer, Karl Moll; and Historian, Helen Finlay.

Kappa Delta Pi

First Row: McMichael, Miss Goodenough, Barss.
Second Row: Stewart, Sheppard, Jones.

Kappa Delta Pi, national education honorary, has for its purpose the encouragement of high scholastic standards, and the recognition of outstanding contributions to education.

Delta Mu chapter was founded at Westminster on May 7, 1937. Requirements for membership are an all-college scholastic average of "B"; completion of six hours of psychology and education for juniors, twelve hours for seniors; and registration in the education department.

Every year the organization sponsors a banquet for the practice teachers. In the past Kappa Delta Pi has offered a scholarship to an outstanding senior going into the teaching field.

Officers are: Roslyn Barss, president; Martha Shoup, vice president; Mary Ellen Stewart, secretary; Grace Jones, treasurer.

First Row: Ashbaugh, Myers, Potter, Randolph, Taggart.
Second Row: Sheppard, Fitzsimmons, Crawford, Pigman.

Mu Phi Epsilon

On April 6, 1946, Theta Gamma Mu, honorary for women music majors on Westminster's campus, was installed as a chapter of Mu Phi Epsilon, national music sorority. The aim of the sorority is to promote musicianship and friendship among women students and graduates of American Colleges and Schools of Music throughout the country. Membership elections are based upon scholarship, musicianship, character and personality, with faculty recommendation in the major subject.

The Phi Omega Chapter was installed by Miss Mabel Hendersen, a graduate of Westminster College, and 3rd National Vice President of the sorority. She was assisted by members from the Pittsburgh and Meadville Alumnae Chapters, and two local members of Mu Phi Epsilon, Mrs. Alan B. Davis and Miss Ada Peabody.

Former members of Theta Gamma Mu returned to the campus for the initiation and dinner held at the Tavern.

Officers are: President, Marilyn Ashbaugh; Vice President, Peggy Pigman; Secretary, June Randolph, Treasurer, Mary Crawford, Faculty Advisor, Miss Ada Peabody.

First Row: Holleran, Burton, Weber.
Second Row: Rocks, Kolb, Morse, Bailey.
Third Row: Sylvester, Lucas, Sheffler.

French Club

Inactive on campus during the war years, the French club has reorganized and is again holding its monthly meetings. As yet no definite projects have been put into effect except its purpose to encourage and stimulate the study of the French language.

Membership is limited to those who are studying or who have studied French.

Officers are: President, Lois Burton; Vice President, Elizabeth Webber; Secretary, Margaret Morris; and Sponsor-Advisor, Miss Elizabeth Stewart.

Pi Sigma Pi

First Row: McMichael, Reed, Stoehr.
Second Row: Stewart, Albertson, DeHaas

Pi Sigma Pi was organized in 1939 in an effort to further the scholastic standard of Westminster College. The purpose of the fraternity is to "encourage high scholastic attainment, cultural interests, and worthy character, and to honor superior students among the candidates for the Bachelor of Science Degrees." The all college average of the members must be 2.4 or higher.

Pi Sigma Pi's regular activities are conducting the Honors Convocation and directing a drive for books in McGill Library. This year, a display of graduate school opportunities was held in the library sponsored by Pi Sigma Pi.

All Phi Beta Kappa members of the faculty and former Pi Sigma Pi members attend the monthly meetings, which this year are being conducted by a different department each month on some topic of interest to the group.

Officers include President, Eleanor McMichael; Secretary-Treasurer, Jim Reed. Pledges to the organization are: Grace Jones, Herman DeHaas, Mary Ellen Stewart, Ruth Stoehr, Gloria Albertson and Margaret McClure.

Phi Alpha Theta

First Row: McConnell, McMichael, Jones.
Second Row: Stoehr, Nickerson, Radulovic.

1946 ushered in Phi Alpha Theta for its first year on Westminster's campus. National history honorary, it was installed on campus by the Beta Chapter of the University of Pittsburgh, presided over by Dr. E. E. Clevon, on April 16, 1946. A member of the Association of College Honoraries, its aim is to stimulate an interest in the study of history.

To become a member a student must have an all college average of "B", and at least twelve hours of history.

Virginia McConnell was Phi Alpha Theta's delegate to the Beta's 25th anniversary regional conference held in the Webster Hall Hotel, Pittsburgh, this spring.

Active as the history club in past years, Westminster's new honorary plans a full year for 1946-47.

Officers are: President, Virginia McConnell; Vice President, Grace Jones; Secretary-Treasurer, Eleanor McMichael; Sponsors, Miss Alice Shuster and Dr. C. Albert Coe.

And so the end . . .

To those who made the 1947 ARGO a reality we extend our grateful appreciation. Especially to Mr. Robert F. Galbreath, Jr. whose pinchhitting as photographer turned into a full-time job well-done. To Mr. Walter Biberich for both his advice and humor that kept the ARGO rolling.

The good things are best remembered, and the headaches are easily forgotten as we close our year at Westminster. Hoping we've given you the best to remember, what you want to remember—
